CSI FOCUS D-HF 2023

Dear colleagues,

The field of device based therapy in heart failure continues to develop at a fast pace.

Advancements in ventricle restoration strategies, device based strategies to improve cardiac output and new monitoring systems only represent a small proportion of the potential for cutting edge technologies and emerging platforms in this new field.

Innovation is at the forefront of this meeting and our faculty of leading experts and pioneers in the field will provide a comprehensive update on the latest research, trials and clinical practice. The program will include lectures, debates and live / recorded cases and of course plenty of opportunities for questions and discussion.

We look forward to seeing you in Frankfurt.
